Wall Stories is a collaboration with Newfoundland writer Jessica Grant. Jessica's text, The Great Indoors, and my Townsite home images interact to create a celebration of interior life with special attention to the collection of objects and the adornment of surfaces. Elements of the external world are miniaturized and nested within living spaces inverting the inside out logic of homes. The first iteration of this collaboration was published by the Journal of Artists' Books as part of the artists' project Switching Places.
